- Detailed information is available in the Cookie Notice published on the Company's official website.

6. PROVISION, WITHDRAWAL OF CONSENT AND CONSEQUENCES

- Before collecting and processing data, we need your consent. You have the right to give full consent, partial consent, or conditional consent.
- In addition, you also have the right to withdraw your full or partial or conditional consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent will not affect the previous data processing.
- If consent is withdrawn or only partial data is provided, this may lead to certain limitations in exercising related rights and obligations, as the company may not have sufficient necessary information, as follows:
 - + Disruption of management operations: Inability to verify shareholder status, causing difficulties in attending meetings, voting, or receiving dividends.
 - + Impact on business progress and decisions: Delays in implementing projects, investment plans, or financial activities.
 - + Loss of credibility with partners and investors: Changing decisions can cause partners or investors to lose confidence in the stability and consistency of the company's management..
 - + Impact on share value.
 - + If data is deleted or inaccessible, the Company may face difficulties in verifying identity, providing emergency support, or protecting the rights of the data subject.
- To withdraw consent, you may contact the Company directly for guidance on the procedure. The Company will receive and process your withdrawal request as soon as possible, but no later than 72 hours where technically feasible. If additional processing time is needed due to technical or procedural limitations, the maximum processing time will be 10 business days from the date of receipt of a valid request.
- When providing consent on behalf of another individual, you must ensure you have the legal authority (through authorization or legal basis) to act on their behalf.
